200,000 ITALIAN TROOPS REST NEAR ABYSSINIAN LINE

Floyd Gibbons Gets First Peep at Country From an Airplane

IS A RUGGED REGION

Wouldn't Give 1c per Square Mile, But 40 Million Italians Claim It

By FLOYD GIBBONS
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1935, by I. N. S.)

ASMARA, Eritrea, Sept. 27.—(10.45 p. m.)—(Via Rome)—Hello, everybody!

I had my first peep into Abyssinia today.

Mussolini's son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, flew a fellow-correspondent and myself over the Italian front line and reserve positions far to the south of here, and from an altitude of 11,000 feet gave us a chance to see the rugged mountainous regions of La Tigre country, through which the River Mareb cuts a deep gorge like the Colorado Canyon, to carve in rock the present border-line between Italian Eritrea and Ethiopia.

Two hundred thousand Italian troops are resting tonight within 15 kilometers of that line, and beyond it are supposed to be the unnumbered fighting forces of Emperor Haile Selassie.

It's the toughest looking country I have ever seen, and you couldn't sell it to me for a cent a square mile, but forty million Italians claim it, and are ready to fight for it to complete what they insist is their manifest destiny and necessary to the security of their country.

"The flight came as an unexpected surprise to me. Enroute to the field I bumped into the tall, robust figure of Mussolini's son-in-law attired in flying helmet and goggles. 'Come on up for a hop,' he said, 'I'll give you a look at the country.'

"The invitation took me quite unaware. I have known Count Ciano but I didn't know how hot he was as an aviator and I like my air pilots with plenty of experience. I do not know who felt the more desperate as we wedged our bodies into the plane interior.

"We left the ground with Ciano at the wheel and a thin, tall co-pilot sitting beside him. With a 30 mile tail wind, Ciano headed southward. The co-pilot brought a map and indicated the mountains far to the south and upon those mountains, which are Abyssinia's, were hanging huge mountains of the darkest storm clouds I have ever seen. Although today marked the end of the rainy season, and tonight the natives are celebrating with great religious zest, there is more than rain in those thunder clouds."

Featuring the Red Men's outing was the public exemplification of the adoption degree of the Red Men's order on the platform in front of the grandstand.

Close to 10,000 persons passed through the gates during yesterday. Judging in all departments was completed, with the announcement of awards in the hobby show sponsored by the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs of Bucks county.

HARVEST HOME SUPPER AT TULLYTOWN LOOKED FORWARD TO BY MANY IN LOWER PART OF BUCKS; CHICKEN TO HEAD LONG LIST OF EXCELLENT FOOD

Good Cooks of Tullytown and Surrounding Section Preparing for Affair Next Wednesday; Young Men and Young Women of Borough to Assist in Serving the Meal

TULLYTOWN, Sept. 28.—When the doors of the dining hall at Tullytown Methodist Church open at 5.30 next Wednesday evening, residents of the section will be treated to one of the finest menus ever served at a Harvest Home supper.

For this annual affair the following menu has been chosen: Chicken, sweet potatoes, mashed white potatoes, cole slaw of both the red and white varieties, pepper sauce, beet sauce, string beans with corn, succotash, rolls, coffee, ice cream, home-made cake.

Such an array of food, and well-man, woman or child arrange their cooked food at that, would make any schedule in such manner that they could be present.

Mrs. Elmer E. Johnson and Mrs. Elsie Carlen will be present early on the 2nd of October to cook the chicken just as it should be cooked. The mashed potatoes and the coffee will be supervised by Mrs. Howard Mitchell; and residents of Tullytown say that Mrs. Clifford White is a specialist when it comes to cooking string beans with corn.

And the cake bakers—well here are a few of the many noted ones in that section: Mrs. Harold Roberts, Mrs. Elmer E. Johnson, Mrs. Helen Nichols, Mrs. Raymond Schaffer, Mrs. Ralph Roberts, Miss Anna Wright, Mrs. Marvin Davis, Mrs. Mabel Morgan, Mrs. Dorothy Schaffer, Mrs. Elsie Carlen. And each has her own special recipe, so a variety of cakes may readily be expected, and no one will be disappointed.

The Harvest Home suppers are part of Tullytown's life, as they have been served each Fall for many, many years. Each year those who have enjoyed the suppers in the past return; and bring others with them.

An innovation this Fall is the assistance of the young men of the community, who with the young women will aid in serving the supper. The four tables will be presided over by Mrs. Raymond Schaffer, Mrs. Charles R. Carson, Mrs. Clara Mabery, and Miss Anna Wright.

"We've had excellent response from the residents of the borough," said a spokesman for the Ladies' Aid Society today, "I don't think one person who was asked refused to make a donation." The Aid, which organization sponsors the supper, has as its officers: Acting president, Mrs. W. H. A. Williams, wife of the pastor of the church; vice president, Mrs. Charles R. Carson; secretary, Miss Rose Wright; treasurer, Mrs. Clara Mabery.

WOMEN OF LOWER BUCKS ACHIEVE DISTINCTION

Mother Mary K. Drexel, Cornwells Heights; Mollie W. Hare, in "Who's Who"

OUTSTANDING WOMEN

(Special to the Courier)
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Mother Mary K. Drexel, of Cornwells Heights, and Mollie W. Hare, of Langhorne, are among the group of outstanding women of the nation selected for inclusion in "American Women," a who's who of the feminine world just completed and published.

Mother Drexel is superior general of congregation and president of the Corporation of Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament for Indians and Colored People. Miss Hare is owner and principal of The Woods School.

Pennsylvania contributed 334 of the 6,214 women chosen for the distinction of places on the list. Eighty-two percent attended college and the majority are active in clubs and organizations. The possibility of success for a career and marriage combination receives strong endorsement from the fact that 41 per cent. of the roster are married. Approximately a third of the list, in true feminine fashion, declined to state their ages. Writers form the largest class, numbering 809, and professors the second, with 355. Four each are engaged in aviation and astronomy, five in engineering and thirteen in the ministry. Gardening is the most popular hobby while only 64 like to play bridge and one goes in for hunting mushrooms.

Italy To Stay With League

Rome, Italy, Sept. 28.—Premier Benito Mussolini today assured the League of Nations Council that Italy would remain with it and that she would give the League a chance to reach some solution of the grave East African crisis. This assurance definitely disposing of a report that Italy was ready to withdraw from the League, was contained in a five page communique issued at the close of an important session of the Italian cabinet.

Il Duce's assurance to the League council that he would not withdraw from it came however, only after he had blamed it as being solely responsible for the serious European repercussions which grew out of the Italo-Ethiopian crisis during the past few weeks.

"Italy will not leave the League until the day in which the League itself assumes the full responsibility for measures which strike against Italy," said the communique.

A threat was seen however that Mussolini will order Italy out of the League in the event extreme sanctions are adopted against her at Geneva.

TRAVEL CLUB YEAR IS OPENED WITH LUNCHEON

Madame Galja Barish Votaw Speaks in Delightful Manner on "Historic Russia"

COUNTY PRES. IS GUEST

The 1935-36 program of the Travel Club was inaugurated yesterday when members gathered for their annual luncheon, and listened to a talk on "Historic Russia" such as only a native Russian can present that subject.

The speaker on this occasion was Madame Galja Barish Votaw, born in Russia, and educated at an American college. Her early years spent in that much-discussed European country, and here later years as the wife of a Quaker lawyer, Madame Votaw proved most liberal in her views—fair to the Russians in their traditions and what they hold dear, yet without pointing out their faults. Her knowledge of Russian music, folk-songs, folk dances, history, and Russian life in general; coupled with her advanced education in this country, her social service work and travels, formed a background for an address which will long be remembered by the club members and their guests.

Mrs. John J. Whisman, club president, introduced the speaker, and in addressing the gathering at the club home, Cedar street, following a delicious luncheon menu, Madame Votaw informed the listeners that she wanted them "to understand this Russian temperament. It's a rather sad background."

In her introductory remarks the native of the subject country mentioned that her father resided in the United States, and that she was permitted to pay him a visit for a period of one year. "I was only here two weeks when the World War broke out, and I could not return. So I attended college here. My father residing here, the country couldn't send me back as I was an American citizen. The Soviet government didn't want me; so won't you please be patient." Humor shone throughout the address, and some of the saddest stories of life in Russia would be ended with a humorous touch by the talented woman.

Madame Votaw expressed appreciation for the three Russian numbers by Messrs. Moritz Emory and R. Joseph Martini, which prefaced her address.

"This Russian music was a very good introduction. It is exceedingly weird, and rather sad." She later informed that Russia is rich in good music because prior to the war music was the only thing which the people of that country were permitted to write, which would not be censored.

The search by Russians, all through their history, to find someone to govern them was told of. "This was because they couldn't do it themselves," the gathering was informed. The various individuals and groups who have attempted to have power in that country were mentioned individually. When the Tartars were spoken of the one of Russian descent asked "Do you know what I'm talking about when I say 'Tartar'?" If you don't you should see me in a temper. They're very childish people." She also quoted her young son who was reprimanded for a misdemeanor at a boys' camp during the past Summer. In reply to the reprimand the lad informed his superior "Don't blame me. My father is a Quaker, my mother is a Russian, and that makes me a Tartar."

"I'm very fond of Russia, although I do not approve of many things being done there. I want today to give you a better understanding of the Russian people."

The history of Russia was dwelt upon, with some of the foremost rulers being briefly mentioned. The results of the reign of Ivan the Terrible, "who was mentally unbalanced, a sick man and therefore not responsible" were told of. "He was not to blame, but the blame should rather be placed on the ruling power which permitted him to reign after his mind was affected." The pretenders who followed after the death of Ivan were told of; then the manner in which Peter the Great attempted to civilize the Russian people, with the resultant building of St. Petersburg. "But it's difficult to bring about a reform in a country without the people having the desire for it,"

COUNSEL PLEADS FOR BARROW'S RELEASE, BUT COURT REFUSES

Argument of Defendant is Based on Over Two Terms Rule

HELD IN $20,000 BAIL

Charged With Being An Accessory To The Fact of Murder

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 28.—At a session of Court yesterday with President Judge Hiram H. Keller and Judge Calvin S. Boyer on the bench, two motions were filed in the case of Commonwealth against Matthew Barrow alias Matt Barrett, charged with being an accessory after the fact to the murder of William Weiss, and secreting a kidnapped person.

On behalf of the Commonwealth, District Attorney Arthur M. Eastburn moved for the continuance of the case against Barrow because of the fact that final disposition has not as yet been made of the principals in the case, Francis Wiley and Martin Farrell both convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to death, and whose cases will be argued before the Supreme Court of the State next Monday, Sept. 30.

Judge Boyer then granted a continuance and fixed bail in the Barrow case at $20,000. Barrow has been incarcerated in the Bucks County Prison since his arrest.

Counsel for Barrow, J. Leslie Kilcoyne, and H. F. Walsh, of Philadelphia, then presented a motion to the Court to have Barrow discharged from the Bucks County Prison under the two-term rule. Barrow was committed to prison in February, 1935, and two terms have expired without the District Attorney bringing Barrow to trial. Defense counsel argued at length to the Court that Barrow is entitled to his release.

Charged with driving an automobile while drunk on Sept. 14, Irvin Donner, 38, of New Galena, pleaded guilty. He was sentenced by Judge Boyer to pay the costs and serve not less than 30 days or more than two years in the County Prison, from the date of his commitment thirteen days ago.

Donner was arrested by Patrolman Cahalan, of Doylestown. The defendant testified that he has a wife and two children and that his family has been on the relief rolls and is in destitute circumstances. Donner said that relief had been taken away from the family because he has been in prison.

THE TWO-THIRDS RULE

Postmaster General Farley, it is rumored, will resign from the cabinet in January to devote his whole time to work as chairman of the Democratic National Committee. According to report, he intends to work on the members of the committee to abolish the rule which requires a two-thirds vote for the nomination of president and vice-president, and adopt the majority-rule practice of the Republicans.

The question of abrogating the two-thirds rule comes up every four years. Usually, abrogation is advocated by backers of some candidate who appears to have about half the delegates lined up, and is opposed by those who hope that if this candidate is unable to secure two-thirds of the votes by the twentieth ballot, his following will fall away, and the convention will suddenly flop to one of the darker horses.

In the San Francisco convention of 1920, Cox had only 134 votes on the first ballot, while McAdoo had 266 and A. Mitchell Palmer 256, and there were 20 other names. It took 44 ballots to decide in favor of Cox.

In the famous New York convention of 1924, the cry was "Beat McAdoo." He had 431½ votes on the first ballot, and 530 on the fourth, only 20 short of a majority, but 202 less than two-thirds. Al Smith gained consistently until on the 76th ballot he had 368 to McAdoo's 513. Finding it impossible to nominate either under the two-thirds rule, the vote on the 103rd ballot gave John W. Davis 594½ votes—he had had only 31 on the first ballot—and then made his nomination unanimous.

Mr. Farley figures that as President Roosevelt will be nominated on the first ballot with no opposition to speak of, this is a good time to change the rules. He is likely, however, to encounter considerable obstinacy. The Democratic party is full of independents who love a convention fight, and don't like to have everything arranged beforehand by a group of strong men.

SILVER POSSIBILITIES

There are two points in the United States' silver policy that are profoundly disturbing and thus far beyond answer.

If silver is jacked up to $1.29 an ounce, how will it be maintained there unless the treasury continues to absorb world production, since a price of $1.29 will tend to destroy silver's normal markets? If silver is maintained at $1.29 how long will it continue to benefit United States operators before they are overwhelmed by the over-production of other metals—copper, lead, zinc, nickel—of which almost 100 per cent of the silver mined in this country is a by-product?

With regard to silver, the United States is in the position of the man who is chased by a bull around a pasture lot, until finally he overtakes the bull and grasps it firmly by the tail. He doesn't dare let go. On the other hand, holding on is fraught with any number of dire possibilities.

Travel Club Year Is Opened With Luncheon

added Madame Votaw. Catherine the Great; Nicholas I., "the great reac- tionary"; Alexander III., "who freed the slaves"; and Nicholas II., who was killed in the Revolution, were brought into the word-picture. "The works done by all of these led up to some of the things that are going on in Russia now," the gathering was in- formed.

Then in another vein it was brought out that "Russians are idealists in a great many ways. We are not prac- tical. We knew when we would die we would either go to heaven or to hell, so our attitude was 'Why hurry?' So we took time to talk. The Russians love to talk; they talk and talk about religion and politics. It is not in the make-up of the people to rush and hurry as it is here."

An idea of some methods used while Madame Votaw resided in Russia was given when she told that it was the custom to fine the editor of a news- paper 500 rubles or sentence him to six months in jail when anything dis- tasteful to the government was printed. A relative of the speaker operated a "revolutionary" or "liberal" news- paper. "He frequently paid fines be- cause of statements he printed, but later the idea was thought of whereby the city drunk was made editor, and for each offense he spent the six months in jail; his family was well rid of him, and received the 500 rubles in the bargain."

The warnings against Lenin as far back as 1914 were referred to; then the speaker turned to the subject of Russians as fighters. "They are not good fighters. Once it is out of their system they can't fight systematically. But I believe perhaps for the first time in its history Russia is now best pre- pared for war. The country has done some remarkable things against tre- mendous odds." According to the vis- itor it is very probable that the Revolu- tion started with a riot for bread. Then she added "During the World War Russia had only man-power, and that was being killed off by the thou- sands."

On the question of religion in Rus- sia Madame Votaw had this to say: "One of the things Americans are raving about, and don't know anything about is that Russia has given up the church. Many, many of them get much comfort from their religion." Then she scored the "terrible commercial- ism" in the churches of Russia, stat- ing she actually knows the monks re- sell candles purchased by the devout, said monks snatching the candles as soon as the original purchaser has left the edifice. "I'm trying to give you a fundamental picture of a church that's built on a rotten foundation. I'm fighting against this terrible commer- cialism in the Russian church, and you can't build a religion on such a foundation . . . You can't find many educated or good priests in that coun- try. Such stuff is not religion or superstition either—it's nonsense." The club guest admitted to the as- semblage she is amazed at the things the Soviet government has ac- complished in the chemical world; and added that no one knows just how the various systems being tried there will work out. Some time was given for the asking and answering of ques- tions.

Another guest yesterday was Mrs. Alfred A. Danser, Yardley, president of the Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Danser spoke briefly when presented by Mrs. Willa- man, touching on various subjects of interest to the club women, and wished them the very best for the club year.

Officers of the club were hostesses on this occasion. During the luncheon period Mrs. David O. Taylor invoked the blessing. Favors were corsages of mixed flowers; and bouquets of cut flowers added to the attractiveness of the room.

CONSIDER WELL THE CONTAINER FOR THE STUDENTS' LUNCHES

By Rhandena A. Armstrong (Home Economics Representative) (Continued from previous article.)
The foods for a school lunch were discussed recently. The container and packing of the lunch is the subject of this article.

Of first consideration is the food the child gets for the entire day. Every child has a right to a warm nutritious breakfast and at least one hot food for his evening meal. Lunches for the most part include cold food but during the fall and winter it is important that one food be hot. This can be accomplished by taking foods to be reheated in jars or, better still, have one hot food provided at school.

For the packed lunch have one of the following:—A tin pail with nail hole openings for ventilation; a granite pail with loose fitting lid or tin cover with air holes; a tin folding box, or a tin box with a vacuum bottle. Other lunch boxes may be cheaper, but they are neither durable nor sanitary. Keep lunch boxes clean. Wash daily; air and sun frequently. Vacuum bottles are excellent but must also be kept clean. Several corks marked M for milk, S for soup, etc., are cheap and practical. Bottles and jars may be used when expense makes vacuum boxes prohibitive.

Careless packing spoils many a good lunch. Line the lunch pail with a white paper napkin or towel; these are reasonable if purchased in quantities.

titles. Wrap each article separately in wax paper. This paper may be saved from cereal and cracker boxes or purchased in sheets or rolls. Pack the box compactly so that the food does not shake about. A knife, fork, spoon, and drinking cup are standard utensils needed. Two paper napkins are advised, one to put on the desk and one for the child to use. (Avoid colored napkins; color will run if they become damp.) Crepe cloth napkins can be fringed and supplied clean daily; they require no ironing. A bottle or jar for carrying moist food or liquids is quite essential. Paper cups with covers can be bought in hundred lots very cheap and can be thrown away after using.

STATE NEWS

HARRISBURG — (INS) — With officers and a program committee selected, the State Farm Products Show Commission has begun detailed preparations for the twentieth annual Pennsylvania Farm Show, to be held here January 20 to 24.

Already, according to Howard G. Eisaman, show director, many commercial exhibitors of past years have requested additional space.

Officers elected at the Commission's first meeting were: Chairman, Secretary of Agriculture J. Hansell French; vice chairman and treasurer, Harry M. Terrell, Department of Agriculture; secretary, J. M. Fry, Agricultural Extension Service, Pennsylvania State College.

The four persons named to the program committee were Secretary French; H. C. Fetterolf, Department of Public Instruction; Terrell, and Fred Cook, Beaver. At the same time the Commission fixed October 17 for a meeting of the Farm Show committees, and October 18 for the next meeting of the Commission itself.

YORK — (INS) — Production figures show that York County last year produced 25,900,950 false teeth, enough to equip 809,404 people with complete sets of 32 teeth each.

Furthermore, had they all been men, each one could have received 539 cigars if the county's 436,056,000 cigar production had been divided among them.

In addition, the mythical possessors of the new teeth, could have been given 12 pounds of pretzels, two pounds of candy, and 20 ice cream cones each from York County plants.

NANAIMO, B. C. — (INS) — Drawing relief money proved expensive for Andrew Lapsansky of Ladysmith when it was revealed in court that he had $5,417 in the bank. Magistrate Potts sentenced Lapsansky to 30 days at hard labor and fined him $200 for accepting $47.50 in relief funds gained by false pretenses.

Six of the bouts were sanctioned Thursday, while the others were okayed yesterday by the Middle Atlantic District of the A. A. U.

Sammy Blaochi, who has climbed to be one of the leading Bristol mitt-men by scoring two sensational knockouts in his first appearances in the ring here, has been signed to meet Walter Thornton, of the East Side Club. Blaochi is picked to be a winner over the Philadelphia who has never been floored. Blaochi has registered clean knockouts over his opponents and it will be interesting to see if he can put the East Sider on the canvas.

A bout has been secured for Anthony Cascarella, King Farms, Morrisville, who will fight under the colors of the St. Ann's Athletic Association. Cascarella's adversary will be Thomas Paxson, Kensington A. C. It will be Cascarella's first appearance here.

The colored youth, James Maxwell, who stopped Mike Quici in the first round several weeks ago, will be back. Many remember the first punch landed by this colored youngster against Quici, which floored him for the count of nine and really led to the knockout. Maxwell's opponent will be Bob by Hinchliffe, Kensington, who lost a close decision to Bobby Winters, two weeks ago.

One of the strongest favorites in the recent Golden Glove tournament in Philadelphia was James Generale. Generale was eliminated by Harry Devlin, Kensington A. C. Monday night the pair will square off again with Generale seeking revenge.

In what promises to be the slugging match of the evening will see Vince Della, southpaw Bristolian, mix it up with Harry DeFazio, twin-winner here. DeFazio has a right which he brings up from the side and when it lands it puts his opponent in agony. Della's favorite is that wicked left of his which packs dynamite. DeFazio holds victories over the two Bristol bests, Castor and Sciarra, and now seeks to conquer the third localite.

The other bouts as announced yesterday, are: Donato Sciarra and William Crawford; Eli Wesley and Albert Pierce; Chet Castor and Louis Spino; Harry Graber and William Maher; Harry Davis and Edward Miller; Joe Christy and William Thomas. Altogether, Match-Maker Giordon has banded some of the best amateur mitt-men that will be seen here for quite some time to come. The Bristolians are considered a few of the cream of the crop, while no doubt the visiting gloves have gained high ranks in amateur circles of Philadelphia.

A Wilmington, Del., match-maker has requested Giordon to send six of the local fighters to an amateur tournament there. Whether this will be done will be decided after the showing made here Monday night by the resident youths.

ST. ANN'S HOPES FOR A VICTORY TOMORROW

After a week of intensive drilling, rectifying mistakes of last week, the St. Ann's gridsters feel confident that they will chalk up their first victory of the infant campaign here tomorrow when they meet the Tulip Tigers, of Port Richmond. The opening kickoff will take place at two-thirty o'clock.

During the drills, the eleven had a complete reversal of the form it exhibited against the Bridesburg Americans last Sunday. The linemen are now shifting with the opposition so that those holes made will be quickly gapped up by the secondary after the interference is spilled. It was the failure of shift with the Americans that caused the visiting aggregation to gain so much yardage through the line.

The shifting of Dick Brown from an end to a guard position has strengthened the line a great deal. Brown is fast and as the St. Ann's plays call for running guards, Brown is expected to aid here with Angelo as his side mate.

Physically the team appears in excellent shape. Few minor injuries were suffered by several players with the only casualty that caused a loss of a player being Dick Seneca's injured shoulder. "Boops" Nicols and Hank Neindorff may not start because of slight injuries but are certain to see action before the close of the fray.

Coach Dougherty will start "Pete" Borne at quarterback in the fray, with his halfbacks being "Teddie" Tosti and Austin Bono. Borne has had more experience than Pico in the system used by the Purple and Gold although the fine work of Pico in the signal-barking of the tilt last week cannot be overlooked. Tosti will do the passing and punting and feels that he is over his nervousness of the opening tilt which caused him to fumble twice. Unruh will be used at fullback and with Bono will crash the line.

The only change in the line will be the shifting of Bobby Rue from center to tackle. His center position will be taken up by Rocco Accardi, former Bristol High star. Accardi will share the pivot post with Bud Tunis, regular center from last season. The other linemen starting are: Angelo Brown, Baker, Denny, and Paul Nicols.

The Tigers average about the same as the Purple and Gold, 140 pounds, and last week pulled a surprise win over the Cheltenham team which is highly rated. Elated over this triumph the Tulips are out to take the hide of the resident club and will bring a large following here to cope with the local rooters.

CASEYS AFTER THIRD GAME AND CHAMPIONSHIP

Eddie McDevitt's Caseys will try to make it three straights and win the Bristol Twilight League championship tomorrow afternoon on Leedom's field as they play the Bristol Cubans in the fifth and deciding contest of the series.

The colored boys won the first two tilts of the series by close scores. The third game went to the Knights in 12 innings. Last Sunday, the Radcliffe street boys won again and deadlocked the series.

Who will start on the hill for the second-half champions remains undecided at the present time. McDevitt has the choice of "Happy" Hovatter, "Milt" Jones, and "Lefty" Whitaker. Whitaker hurled last week so the toss-up is between Hovatter and Jones, with Jones' experience making him the favorite.

Manager Frank Washington also is in a quandary as to whom to send against the Caseys. Derry, whom he had faith in to clinch the series, lost two games, while Braggs hasn't finished a game he started. Thompson was banged during a relief role, although he twirled wonderfully as a reliever in the first tilt.

The rest of the lineups will be the same, with the Caseys having: Dougherty, McDevitt, Stromp, Cahall, W. Dougherty, Cooper, Moore, Ihrig and Hagan, and the Cubans: A. Spencer, E. Spencer, Long, Davis, Darrah, H. Davis, Dorsey and Bragg.

Game is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock sharp.

HULMEVILLE TO TRY FOR ANOTHER CROWN SUNDAY

With the Delaware River League championship safely tucked away, the Hulmeville A. A. baseballers will attempt to annex another crown when they begin their playoff with the Edgely Braves for the Lower Bucks County League gonfalon. The first game will be played on the Edgely diamond tomorrow with the second tilt being on Reetz's field, Hulmeville, Sunday.

"Ike" Watson or "Wils" Holland will toe the hill for the defending champs tomorrow with Howard Black tossing them in on the Sabbath Day. Black was victorious in the final three tilts of the Delaware River League. It is most likely that Danny Hines and "Jake" Praul will do the flinging for the Braves.

Both teams have agreed to sign another player for the series. The Hulmeville club have the permission to use "Henny" Mellor who was signed with them in the Delri League but not in the Lower Bucks, while the Braves will have "Sunny" Santato who caught for them in several Delaware River League tilts. Santato has been looked over by several league scouts and is due for a try-out in the majors.

There will not be any other changes in the lineups, Hulmeville having Leigh, Stan Carlen, Allison, Conly, Bilker, Hemp, Paffenrath and Afflerbach, while the Braves have F. Hibbs, L. Hibbs, Kenny Hill, Benny Praul, Frank Frankovic, Bud Wright, and Pete Firce. It is doubtful whether Russ Malmbsbury will be in a Braves' uniform.

The fray will begin at two-thirty o'clock sharp with a small fee being charged for the stand seats.

THE BAT BICYCLE

PARIS — (INS) — An ordinary bicycle with bat-like wings attached—this is one of the queer flying machines on view at the Concourse Lepine, the exhibition of inventions held here every year. Another tiny aircraft driven by human power is called the "Pigeon-plane." It has a body like a pigeon, wings like those of an aeroplane, and is mounted on three wheels.

PARIS — (INS) — There is a way to dispose of old razor blades. Negroes from the Belgian Congo have saved the situation for men of all countries by helping to solve a problem which has been haunting them for years, a missionary visiting here reported. "Congo negroes use them for almost everything," he said. "They are invaluable particularly for shaving heads in funeral rites. Just send them to me, I'll take care of them."

HIGH SCHOOL ELEVEN OPENS SEASON TODAY

By Jack Orr
Today the Bristol High School Bunnies open their 1935 football campaign, meeting the high stepping Fallsington eleven. Falls opened up last week with a 6-0 win over Newtown in a Lower Bucks County Conference battle and expect to duplicate their last week's triumph over the Cardinal and Gray in the latter's opener today.

Coach Joe Doughney builds his offense around "Bill" Lovett, captain and fullback extraordinary. Lovett, a three letter man who aided the Orange and Black to defeat the localites on the basketball court will be the man to watch in the Falls' backfield today.

Bill Dougherty, Cardinal and Gray mentor, expects the big Orange and Black eleven to give his proteges plenty of trouble before the final score is posted in today's match. This will be a Lower Bucks County Conference game and both clubs are anxious to stay in the fight for the new trophy.

The local Cadets will offer color to the atmosphere before the game and at half time. Opening kick-off 2:30 sharp.

Probable line-up:
Fallsington ..... Bristol
Vandegrift ..... Messinelli

LANDRETH'S TO CLOSE SEASON TOMORROW

The Landreth Seed Company baseball team will close its season tomorrow afternoon at Burlington, playing the Burlington Club, champions of the Burlington County League at 3:00 o'clock.

The first game of the series was won by Burlington at Burlington 7-3. The second game was won by the Farmers in Bristol 14-2, so this will be the deciding game of the series and it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand.

Sullivan will probably pitch for the Farmers with Purcell behind the plate. Burlington's pitcher will in all probability be Heims. A close and exciting game is looked for and a large crowd is expected to be present.

DECIDING GAME TO BE PLAYED HERE TOMORROW

Tomorrow morning on Leedom's field the championship of the Bristol Junior League will be decided when the Third Ward B. C. and the Catholic B. C. nines come together.

It will be the third game of a three game series, the preceding games being played last Saturday and Sunday mornings.

Saturday's contest went to the Pickers when they swamped the Boys' Club by the one-sided score of 14 to 0. The Sunday fray saw the Catholic men fight an uphill battle to nose out the Warders, 6 to 5, in an extra-inning contest.

The odds are three to one in the Pickers' favor, due to the fact that the Catholic Club lost two valuable players through football. Throughout the season, Third Ward has defeated the Catholics five times and allowed the Catholics to beat them only twice.

Ed Jefferies will more than likely pitch for the downtown team, while Phillips or Gallagher will twirl for the C. B. C. The respective catchers will be: VanZant, Third Ward; Joe McGee, Catholics.

Game will begin promptly at 10:45 a. m.
